

Student with flair for numbers, social media and communication.

Part time - Copenhagen, Denmark

Can you translate social media data into easily digestible insights for some of the biggest brands out there? Do you work systematically and fast? Then you may be our new employee.

Zenbu is on a mission to help brands make great content. Our tools and services are built on brutal simplicity to provide smart answers to complicated questions. But we need your help.

Your responsibilities:

Your primary responsibility is to gather and process social media data from clients and present insightful findings in an easily understandable language. The position is concentrated around the start of every month when clients expect reports.

Requirements:

- Studying communication, advertising, statistics or another relevant BA or MA.
- Fluent and flawless in English.
- Numbers are your friend.
- To you, Excel and PowerPoint are what water is to a fish.
- An eye for graphics.
- Systematic and efficient.
- Previous documented experience with SoMe analytics preferred.
- Skills in Photoshop and Illustrator are a plus.

Benefits:

- A look into brands current social media reality.
- Possibility of employment upon completion of your relevant education.
- Flexible hours.
- Training in social media analytics.
- Being part of a startup in growth.

About Zenbu:

Zenbu helps marketers create better, more relevant content for social networks such as Facebook, Twitter and Instagram. Our experienced team of content marketers, developers and analysts create leading tools and services to support us on our mission to make it easy for brands to win the content marketing battle.

To apply for the position, please send your application to recruiting@zenbusocial.com. Please contact Niels Wee on niels@zenbusocial.com or +45 31 24 05 88 for any questions regarding the position.

We look forward to having you on our team.